And that the ſaid Bounties and Rewards be paid in the Manner directed by His Majeſty's aforementioned Order in Council of the 2d of April laſt. Whereof all Perſons concerned are to take Notice, and govern themſelves accordingly.

W. Blair.

Liſbon, May 29. The Spaniſh Troops, after having over-run the whole Territory of Braganza, where there were no Regular Troops to oppoſe them, took Poſſeſſion of the City of that Name, which has for many Years been quite open, and defenceleſs.

From thence they went forward, and meeting with no Oppoſition, entered the Town of Chaves, which was likewiſe in former Times a Place of Defence, but has been an open Town for many Years, from its great Extent, and the ruinous State of its old Walls.

On the 26th Inſtant, they write from Porto and Braga, that the Spaniards had left Chaves, and had endeavoured to paſs over the Mountains of Monte Alegre towards the Province of Minho; but finding the Paſſes of thoſe Mountains defended by the Major Generals Dom John de Lancaſter, and Franciſco Joſeph Sarmento, at the Head of ſome Regiments of Militia of thoſe two Provinces, they had retired, in order to come over the Mountain of Maran, and Amarante, to the City of Oporto.

The ſame Letters inform us, that the Major General John de Almada, Governor of Oporto, had ſent Troops to defend thoſe ſteep Mountains of Maran, and the Paſſes from thence to Amarante; which, he hoped, would be able to maintain their Ground, until the Succours of Regular Troops arrived, of which the firſt Regiment of Chaves, Horſe, was to arrive at Oporto the 28th Inſtant.

On the other Side, from Almeida, Major General Joſeph Felix da Cunha adviſes, by Letter of the 25th Inſtant, That a Body of the Spaniards, Part of the Army that remained at Miranda, had attempted to paſs the River Douro between Torre de Moncorvo and Villa Nova de Foſcoa; but had been oppoſed by the Inhabitants of this laſt Place with ſome Militia of the Neighbourhood, who joined in a Body on the South Side of the River, and with Guns, Pikes, Flails, and other Weapons, ſuch as they could collect, obliged the Enemy to retire to Torre de Moncorvo, with ſome ſmall Loſs; the Portugueſe on their Side not having received the leaſt Hurt from the Enemy's Fire.

Upon this, in order to encourage theſe brave People, he had ordered a ſmall Body of Regular Troops to aſſiſt them in the Defence of that Poſt, and had ſent them ſome few Pieces of Ordnance, and Field Pieces, with Powder and Ball.

Before theſe Advices came, the King had already ordered further Succours to be ſent to thoſe Provinces; and the Marquiſs de Angeja, the Count de Arcos, and Joſeph Leite de Souza, Major Generals, were ſent with them from Tomar; and the Marquiſs de Marialva, Maſter of the Horſe, and Lieutenant General, is juſt gone from hence to command this Detachment, which is to be joined by all the Militia of the Province, and to act either offenſively or defenſively, as occaſion may require.

This is all the Information we have had to this Day, May 29. The Officers cannot find Terms to expreſs the Courage of the Militia, and the Zeal and Eagerneſs which the People ſhew to be engaged with the Enemy.

Breſlau, June 13. The King of Pruſſia and Marſhal Daun continue to occupy their reſpective Poſitions as before. It is ſaid, that the Corps of Auſtrians in the Higher Sileſia, having been reinforced by a ſtrong Detachment from Marſhal Daun's Army, Lieutenant General Verner had been obliged to retire to Coſel.

Copenhagen, June 19. The King of Denmark's Fever had left him for three Days when the laſt Poſt came came from Sleſwick; and it was thought that his Majeſty would appear again in Publick as Yeſterday or To-day.

Hague, June 25. Letters of the 20th from France ſay, That the Spaniſh General Marquis de Saria intended to leave a Body of Troops to obſerve the Garriſon of Almeyda, and to march with the reſt of his Forces towards Abrantes, where the Portugueſe Army was aſſembled. The freſheſt Advices from Liſbon, which are of the End of laſt Month, confirm, That the Portugueſe Army was in the abovementioned Poſition, with a detached Corps at Beja.

The Toulon Squadron is ſailed for Minorca, with ſeveral Tranſports, to take on Board ſome Troops from that Iſland, as is ſuppoſed. A French Eaſt India Ship, called the Dromedary, had been wrecked in her Paſſage from Port l'Orient to the Iſle de France; and the Captain, with a few only of the Crew, eſcaped.

The Prince of Condé has tranſferred his Head Quarters from Duſſeldorff to Weſel: It is ſaid he intended to march to Dulmen, but was prevented by the Hereditary Prince.

Count Woronzow, Envoy Extraordinary from the Emperor of Ruſſia to the Court of Great Britain, arrived here this Day, and will ſet out in a few Days for England.

Letters of the 22d Inſtant from Hamburgh mention, That the Senate and Burghers of that City had come to a Reſolution of treating with M. Johnn, the Daniſh Miniſter reſiding there, in order to an amicable Accommodation with the King of Denmark; and that the ſame having been concluded accordingly, the Daniſh Troops were beginning to withdraw, and would have entirely evacuated the Hamburgher Territory by the next Morning.

THURSDAY, July 1, 1762.

St. James's, June 30.

THIS Afternoon Lieut. Colonel Boyd, First Aid de Camp to Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick, arrived here, being dispatched by His Serene Highness to the King with the following Account of a Victory gained by His Majesty's Forces under his Command, on the 24th Instant, over the French Army commanded by the Marshals D'Etrées and Soubize.

THE French Army has been surprized this Day in their Camp of Graebenstein, by His Majesty's Forces. The Marshals D'Etrées and Soubize had incamped their Troops between that Place and Meinbrexen. The Center of their Army was posted on a very advantageous Eminence, their Left Wing inaccessible by several deep Ravines, and their Right covered by Graebenstein, several little Rivulets, and by a Body of Troops under the Command of M. de Castries, posted at Carlsdorff. Prince Ferdinand made the following Dispositions for attacking the Enemy.

General Luckner, who was situated on the Leine, having Eimbeck in his Front, with six Battalions of Grenadiers, four Squadrons of Dragoons, and eight Squadrons of Hussars, to observe Prince Xavier's Motions, who lay incamped with his Corps de Reserve between the Werra and Gottingen, received Orders in the Night, between the 22d and 23d, to march to Gotsbuhren in the Reinharts-Wald, with the Grenadiers, four Squadrons of Horse, and his own Regiment of Hussars. The Hessian Hussars were ordered to remain near Mohringen, in order to conceal his March, and to observe Prince Xavier. M. Luckner began his March from Hollenstadt on the 23d at Six in the Morning, got to Uslar at Noon, passed the Weser at Bodenfeldt at Six in the Evening, and towards Night reached Gotsbuhren. He had Orders to proceed on the 24th, at Three in the Morning, to Mariendorff, and to form between that Place and Udenhausen.

M. de Sporcken passed the Dymel at Sielem, at Four in the Morning, with twelve Battalions of Hanoverians, and Part of the Cavalry of the Left Wing, in order to march by Reinharts-Wald between Hombrexen and Udenhausen. As soon as he had formed, he was to attack the Enemy's Corps, which was posted at Carlsdorff, in Flank, while Luckner charged their Rear; and, if he succeeded, was to continue marching in such Manner, as to take the Enemy's Camp at Graebenstein both in Flank and Rear.

Prince Ferdinand passed the Dymel at Four in the Morning with twelve Battalions of the English, eleven Battalions of Brunswickers, and eight Hessian Regiments, together with the English Cavalry, and Part of the German Cavalry of the Left Wing, with an Intent to draw up behind the Ponds of Kalse.

The Picquets of the Army formed the Van Guard on the Left, and the Chasseurs of the English and German Infantry, commanded by Lord Frederick Cavendish, with Freytagh's Hanoverian Chasseurs, That of the Right, in order to seize upon the Langenberg.

The Marquis of Granby was to pase the Dymel at Warbourg, between Two and Three o'Clock in the Morning, with the Reserve under his Command, to march by Zieremberg, and Zibersshausen, upon the Eminence, which is opposite to Furstenwald, in order to fall upon the Left Wing of the Enemy. This whole Plan was put in Execution. We were in Presence of the Enemy before they had the least Apprehension of being attacked. However M. de Castries had Time to retreat, and did it with a very small Loss.

Prince Ferdinand came on in the Centre, and gained Ground. The Enemy, seeing themselves attacked in Front, in Flank, and in Rear, were not long in taking their Party: They struck their Tents and retreated. Prince Ferdinand pursued and pressed upon them as close as possible; and they would, without doubt, have been intirely routed, if M. de Stainville had not thrown himself, with the Grenadiers of France, the Royal Grenadiers, the Regiment of Aquitaine, and other Corps, being the Flower of the French Infantry, into the Woods of Wilhelmstahl, to cover their Retreat. That Resolution cost him dear; his whole Infantry having been taken, killed, or dispersed, after a very gallant Defence, excepting two Battalions, which found Means to get off. Some of those Troops had before surrendered to Lord Granby's Corps; and, upon the coming up of the Army, the Remainder, after one Fire, surrendered to the 5th Regiment of Foot.

Lord Grandy acquitted himself, upon this Occasion, with remarkable Valour, and had a great Share in the Victory.

All the Troops behaved extremely well, and shewed great Zeal and Willingness; but particularly the first Battalion of Grenadiers, belonging to Colonel Beckwith's Brigade, which distinguished itself extremely.

The Enemy's Army retreated under the Cannon of Cassel; and a great Part of it passed very hastily over the Fulda.

We have taken between Two and Three Thousand Prisoners, several Standards and Colours. M. Reidesel attacked, beat, and totally overthrew the Regiment of Fitz-James, took 300 of their Horses, and their two Standards.

Our Loss in Men is very inconsiderable, amounting only to between Two and Three Hundred; and we have no Officer of Distinction killed, except Colonel Townshend.

The French Infantry consisted of 100 Battalions, and the Allies had no more than 60.

Among the French Prisoners taken in the Action, there are upwards of Two Hundred Officers. The following is a List of such of them as we have hitherto been able to procure an Account of.

Of the Grenadiers of France,	55
Of the Regiment of Aquitaine,	38
